The Company is not obliged to accept instructions to enter into a Transaction unless it is required to do so by any Applicable Regulations. If the Company declines to enter into a Transaction, it is not obliged to give a reason.

Different instruments may have different Margin requirements as shall be determined by the Company from time to time.

11.2 Trading using leverage can result in losses in excess of the deposits that the Client hold. To the extent of Client trade with leverage, the Client will magnify the Client's gains and losses. Small price changes in the underlying asset can result in significant losses or gains. However, the Company provides all Clients with negative balance protection. This means that the Client's aggregate liability for all Financial Instruments relating to the Client Account is limited to the funds in the Account.

11.3 Additionally, various jurisdictions and/or Client classifications may require the imposition of maximum leverage requirements and/or minimum Margin requirements on Accounts maintained by their residents. 11.4 Without derogating from the generality of the above the Company is required to limit the amount of leverage that Retail Clients can apply to certain transactions, depending on where those Clients are residents. The Company set out the relevant leverage limits relating to Retail Client transactions on the Company's website. Professional Clients are not subject to prescribed leverage limits.

11.5 The Company may change our Margin requirements at any time. Any requirement for Margin must be satisfied in such currency and within such time as may be specified by the Company (in sole discretion) or, if none is specified, immediately.

11.6 The Client is responsible for always maintaining appropriate arrangements with the Company for the receipt and communication of information regarding Margin. The Client is aware and acknowledges that the Company may require the Client to increase the amount in the Client's Account pursuant to a Margin call. A Margin call may be based upon a number of factors, including without limitation, the Client's overall position with the Company, the Client's Account size, the number of Open Transactions you have, the volume traded, the Client's trade history, and market conditions.

11.7 No previous Margin requirements specified by the Company shall preclude increasing the rates of Margin without notice. It is the Client's responsibility to monitor at all times the amount deposited in the Client's Account against the amount of any Margin that may become necessary.

11.8 Failure to meet the Margin requirement at any time or failure to make a Margin Payment when due may result in the closure of the Client's Open Positions without further notice to the Client whether at a loss or a profit and liquidate the Client's Account.

The Company's "Order Execution Policy" sets out a general overview of how orders are executed as well as several other factors that can affect the execution of a Financial Instrument.

13.2 The Company's "Order Execution Policy" forms part of the Client's Agreement with the Company and therefore by entering into this Agreement with the Company the Client also agrees to the Terms of the "Order Execution Policy".
